ABSTRACT

[0068]   A system and method for configuring a portal, comprising providing a first user interface operable to define and/or manage the portal; providing a second user interface operable to define and/or manage entitlements for at least one portal resource; wherein the portal can include at least one of the following portal resources: a desktop, a book, a page, a portlet, a shell, a look and feel, and a layout; and wherein the first user interface includes a context-sensitive editor.